

Adaeze C. Ayuk obtained her undergraduate medical education at the University of Nigeria Enugu; Paediatric Fellowship (National Postgraduate Medical College of Nigeria), sub-specialist training in Paediatric pulmonology (University of Cape Town South Africa) with distinction. She won the 2011 American Thoracic Society (ATS) research grant award on spirometric reference range in children in South east Nigeria. She won the young investigators award at the Conference of International Paediatric Pulmonologist (CIPP) conference in Thailand in 2012. She represents Nigeria on the board of the International Paediatric Pulmonology society. She is an Associate Professor of Paediatrics, a chief consultant and a Paediatric Pulmonologist at the University of Nigeria Teaching Hospital Enugu Nigeria. She has been an Honorary fellow at Queen Mary University Hospital and recently the Royal Brompton Hospital London.

She is currently the National Treasurer Paediatric Association of Nigeria (PAN), National Treasurer Nigeria Thoracic Society (NTS), Financial Secretary, Medical and dental consultants Association (MDCAN) Enugu, Member of Board Faculty of Paediatrics National Postgraduate Medical College of Nigeria, Board member Institute of Maternal and Child health UNN, and the Associate Director Institute of Maternal and Child Health (IMCH) University of Nigeria Nsukka Enugu State

She has over 80 peer reviewed published journal articles and books and has been both a principal and co-investigator in both personally funded and industry funded researches. She is an astute academician with great leadership and motivational qualities